URGED TO DECORATE FOR JUBILEE WEEK

Decoration Committee Wants Everyone to Display Flag

APPEAL MADE TO ALL

Court of Honor to be Erected on Washington Street Between Cameron and Prince Streets.

Alexandria's Hproes are arriving home daily and interest in the Home Coming Celebrations being planned for Jubilee Week, June 8th to 14th inclusive, is growing.

The committee in charge of decorations has decorated King Street from Fairfax Street to Union Station and will, within a few days complete a court of honor on Washington Street from Cameron Street to Prince Street, and now individual effort is not only desirable but necessary, and, it is hoped that the patriotic impulse of our merchants and residents will prompt them to decorate places of business and homes. The battles have been fought and won, and while Alexandria has done its duty during the days of the war, it seems most fitting that in appreciation of the services rendered by the men now at home and those to come, that the city be properly decorated for their home-coming. By direction of the committee having in charge the arrangements, this appeal is made to you, and through you to your neighbor, to decorate. Everyone can display at least one flag, the more the better. This appeal is made by Robert S. Jones, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

25,000 "WETS" PARADE

Baltimcre Mayor to Review Line of Dry Amendment's Foes

Baltimore, June 2.—More than 25,000 men are expected to take part in the parade of the wet forces which will be held here today to protest against the war time prohibition constitutional amendment. Judge James F. Klecka, head of the Maryland branch of the Anti-Prohibition League of Amorica, said yesterday morning that the outlook for the demonstration was excellent and that the weather alone could prevent a line of marchers greater than has ever been seen in this city.

Large numbers of soldiers have asked to be permitted to take part in the parade, according to Judge Klecka, and, in the section set aside for the khaki-clad men will be many men of the Twenty-ninth division. Labor organizations will send large delegations and thousands of others will march merely to show their individual disapproval of the dry measure.

Red roses will be worn by every marcher, and flags will be carried. Floats showing the evils which are said to exist in "dry" territory have been secured and will, with the banners and placards carried by marchers, set forth the claims of the "wet" forces.

All saloons will be closed between the hours of noon and 3 o'clock, while the parade is in progress.

The parade will be reviewed by Mayor Broening and city officials.

POPE SENDS MESSAGE

Benedict XV. Urges Zealous and Persistent Social Economic Activity in the U. S.

New York, June 2.—Pope Benedict, XV., for the first time in his pontificate, has addressed a letter to the entire American hierarchy approving plans for American Catholic religious, social and economic activities, and strongly urging support of the project to erect a national Catholic shrine in honor of the Blessed Virgin at the Catholic University at Washington, D. C. This latter he descries as a "holy purpose."

The pope's letter says that annual meetings of the bishops will further the best interests of the church and the nation, and urges the call to "a zealous and persistent economic social activity on the part of American Catholics. He especially forwards the cause of Catholic education and praises the work of the Catholic University at Washington.

TRIAL POSTPONED

Date For Third Trial of W. H. Oehlert Will be Decided Monday

The third trial of William H. Oehlert, charged with shooting and killing Linwood Kidwell, which was to have begun this morning before Judge Goolrich, of Fredericksburg, Va., in the corporation court for this city, was poseponed until Monday, owing to the illness of Attorney Edmund Burke, representing the accused.

On Monday Judge Barley will preside when a date for the trial will be decided and the governor asked to designate a judge to preside at the trial.

The venire of forty talesmen summoned from Fredericksburg did not arrive, they having been informed that the trial would be postponed owing to Mr. Burke's illness. The shooting took place November 12, 1918. The last trial resulted in a hung jury.

GYPSY WOMAN NABS POCKETBOOK

Woman Captured as She Arrives in Auto From Accotink

MONEY STOLEN $25

Owner Named Dove Refuses to Prosecute After Money is Recovered From "Fortune Teller."

"Give me a penny" said a shrewd looking gypsy woman to a man named Dove at Accotink, Va., at 10 o'clock this morning and she added "I will tell your fortune."

Dove looked into his pocket and unable to find a penny drew forth his pocketbook containing $25. In less time than it takes to tell the gypsy woman tempted by the money, grabbed the pocket book and made off in an automobile.

Dove immediately phoned the Alexandria police and at 11 o'clock Policemen Snellings and Miller intercepted a band of gypsies at the head of King street. In the meantime Mr. Dove arrived in town and the police had collected the $25 stolen from him whereupon Mr. Dove decided not to prosecute the case. There were ten auto loads of the gypsies making their way north.

The gypsy which stole the money went to Mr. Dove's residence in quest of water and he gave her water where upon she started the old fortune telling racket resulting in his foregoing experience.

DRY AGENTS' CASE UP

Winchester, Va., June 2.—The case of the Commonwealth against Prohibition Inspector W. C. Hall and Deputies Harry F. Sweet, Sr., W. B. Dunleavy and J H. Sullivan, indicted in Shenandoah Valley for murder in connection with the shooting and killing of Raymond C. Shackelford and Lawrence D. Hudson, alleged boot leggers, and removed to the Prince William County Circuit for trial was called when court convened this morning at Manassas by Judge Samuel G. Brent.

It is expected that the court will set a date early in the June term for the trial to begin. Half a dozen or more leading lawyers of the State have been retained by both sides. The indicted officers are State officials, and this is the first time in many years that the Commonwealth has been required to prosecute its own authorities on a charge of murder. The State, incidentally, will also have to bear all the expense incident to the prosecution and defense of the four men, including the fees of lawyers, witnesses, court officials and stenographers.

The case against Inspector Hall probably will be called first, and the officers tried separately, However, the result of the first trial may, it is said decide the course to be pursued in disposing of the remaining indictments.

OVERTAXING SOLDIERS

A young Alexandrian who recently reached Newport News, after having served his country in France, where he had been "gassed," was sent to Richmond later and, against his earnest protest, was forced to take his place in line during a parade in that city. The young man soon fell in the streets and was taken to a hospital, where it was he had had a hemorrhage. He is now said to be convalescing.

In view of the wave of indginant protest and the many adverse criticisms from Richmond people of all classes, the parade of the Three Hundred and Seventeenth Infantry and Companies L and M of the Three Hundred and Eighteenth Infantry, scheduled for Thursday of this week, will undoubtedly be called off.

First to go on record as an organization in requesting that no more parading of home-coming troops take place is the Hollywood Memorial Association, one of the oldest and most influential organizations in Richmond.

The association sent a letter to Adjutant-General Jo Lane Stern Sautrday, urging that he intercede in behalf of the association.

LACONIC SALUATION

When Philip of Macedonia, father to Alexander the Great, sent hard conditions to the Lacedemonians, he added this autocratic threat: "If I come into Laconia, I willl level Lacedemonians with the ground." The Lacedemonians replied to the challenge of the tyrant by spurning the call to surrender, and by sending in reply the one word, "If." That reply was the source of the word "laconic" a sexpressing brevity in human intercourse.

When the German representatives to the Peace Conference appeared at Versailles, and the assembly which will forever stand out large in the picture galleries of history had come to attention. Mr. Clemenceau, with the memory of the humiliation off France in 1870 doubtless beating like war drums in his heart, addressed the Germans in language which was coldly laconic. He said:

"It is unnecessary to express needless words. You have before you the plenipotentiaries of the small and great powers united in this most cruel war, which was imposed upon them. The hour has arrived for a heavy settlement of the account."

VICTIM OF VIRGINIA FOUND

Body of Yeomanette Recovered By Residents of Crisfield

The opinion that more lives than those reported by the company's officials were lost when the Old Bay Line steamer Virginia was burned last Saturday, has been strengthened when the body of a white woman, apparently about 25 years old, was found floating off Tangier Islands, 19 miles from Crisfield, Md., by Capt. W. H. Stewart, Jr., and the crew of the motorboat Maggie Lee.

The crew was returning from the Western Shore when Captain Stewart saw the body floating near the scene of the wreck of the steamer Texas. As he pulled alongside he saw a life belt of the Virginia was on the body. The crew pulled the body aboard and took it to Crisfield, where it was viewed by Justice Frederick N. Holler and Coroner William H. Colburn.

The woman was about 5 feet 9 inches tall and wore the uniform of a yeomanette in the Naval Service. She had on black silk stockings and black patent leather shoes. A gold signet ring, with the initials "C. P. C." was on the fourth finger of her right hand, and a cameo ring wos on her left hand, She had a gold necklace with a lavalierre and cameo set around her neck. Three saphires hung from the gold chain.

The officials of the Old Bay Line Company were notified and will check up their list again to establish her identity.

STILL FAITHFUL TO STUARTS?

Present Pretender To Britain's Throne Rupert of Bavaria.

There was once to be found, in Britain, a little groupe of romantic sentimentalists who remained faithful to the Stuart line, and celebrated on January 30 a kind of Jacobite feast day. The writer remembers seeing postage stamps bearing the likeness of the "Pretender," who happened to be a Princess of Bavaria. These were attached to the envelope by the side of the official postage stamps, thus consituting a nuisance to the authorities and a sourde of annoyance to the serious-minded Victoria.

Since the death of his mother, Maria Theresa of Bavaria, a few weeks ago, ex-Prince Rupert of Bavaria is now the official Stuart pretender to the throne of Great Britain The muse of history has ever had a leaning toward irony—Living Age.

It is Worth Thinking Over

Building and improving is being done on a much larger scale than had been expected in practically all parts of the country by experienced men who have given this work their careful attention for years.

This means that a great many people are convinced that well planned building and improving is a wise and safe way to invest money today.

We have felt so sure of a good demand for LUMBER, MILLWORK AND BUILDING MATERIALS that we have large and well assorted stocks on hand and for the present will not be effected by the shortage of certain grades at the mills and by the increase in prices on these grades.

We are glad to be able to give our customers advantage of this condition and are splendidly equipped to handle all orders promptly and with care.

Richmond—Douglas Fairbanks

It took six months to make "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo!" featuring Douglas Fairbanks at the Richmond Theatre tonight. That's 184 days.

Seven reels! That means 77 solid minutes of the Douglas Fairbanks brand of entertainment!

"Doug" spent two and a half days making every minute of amusement that you get from this picture!

He's made you wait a long time for one of his pictures, but now it's here!

"Doug" thought out a lot of new stunts during those six months. For instance:

He leaves the window of a flying train, climbs over the cars side to the roof, runs along the roof to the mail coach, is swung from that car to the station by the mail conveyor like a sack of fourth-class mail, dropping onto the back of a horse that gallops madly off.

That's only one of his stunts! That's only one of the laughs! You can't afford to miss all the rest.

It's a mirthmaking tale of a young New Yorker who decided to devote his life to others. Which is a fine motive, but is full of all sorts of humorous possibilities. And you know what Doug can do with a humorous possibility.

INGOMAR—"Hitting the Trail"

There are two stars in the new World Picture, "Hitting the Trail," which will be seen tonight at the Ingomar Theatre. They are Carlyle Blackwell and Evelyn Greeley, and these two very popular stars have two of the best roles they have ever had in their successful careers in this production.

Ruth Roland in "The Tigers Trail" will be seen with the above.

GRAND THEATRE

The theory that a petted child, who later becomes the doll wife of a struggling lawyer, cannot aspire to higher altitudes of thought and action is dispelled in "A Doll's House," the latest Artcraft photoplay starring beautiful Elsie Ferguson, which will be shown at the Grand Theatre tonight.

Also Wm. Duncan in "The Man of Might."

CRENSHAW JURY DISAGREES.

Third Trial of Accused Student Results Like First Two

Charlottesville, Va., June 2.—The third trial of S. Dabney Crenshaw, Fourth, the former chemistry student at the University of Virginia, charged with burning the chemistry laboratory at that institution in January two years ago, resulted like the former hearings in a disagreement. After being out a half-hour the jury reported its inability to reach a verdict and was sent back by Judge Fishburne for a further conference. Forty minutes later the members returned to the courtroom and stated that they were as far apart as ever and were, accordingly, dismssed. It is understood that eight of the jury were for conviction and four for acquittal.

The same bail, $20,000, was granted Crenshaw for his appearance at the first day of the June term, but no day was set for the fourth trial. The accused, accompanied by his parents and two sisters, returned today to their Richmond home.
